

EVERYTHING YOU ALWAYS WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT CAR-FREE CITIES BUT WERE AFRAID TO ASK

La asistencia computa para baremo becas Erasmus+ de la ETSICCP en cualquier convocatoria (puntos por actividades internacionales ETSICCP). Se expide certificado al final de la charla

Lecture by: Univ. Prof. Dr. Carmen Hass-Klau Ph.d.

Carmen Hass-Klau is currently an academic advisor to the University of Stavanger, Norway.

She comes originally from Nürnberg, and completed her first degree at the TU Berlin, followed by an MSc and PhD at Reading University, England. While at Reading she worked with Professor Peter Hall and co-authored with him 'Can Rail save the City?'.

She had already founded her consultancy Environmental and Transport Planning in 1985, and over the next 20 years ETP completed a wide range of projects, mainly focusing on the role of walking, traffic calming, cycling and public transport in the modern city.

From 1995 to 2012 she also had a position at the University of Wuppertal as Professor of European Public Transport.

She is currently an academic advisor to the University of Stavanger, Norway and her new book 'The Pedestrian and the City' was published last year and stimulated research trips to a number of North American cities.

Thursday, November 3th
10:15 h

ETSICCP assembly hall (4H)

Transportesociedad

Transportesoc

www.transportesociedad.es